Management Reports

From the Board

This has been a year of enormous change for the organisation. The announcement of a $+5M Commonwealth grant to redevelop the Tully Street clinic marks a turning point for Nunyara and for the Whyalla community. Alongside this exciting development, staff managed the significant task of relocating to temporary premises at Bastyan Crescent in April 2025 — a move that came earlier than expected but was handled with professionalism and care.

During this period of transition, the organisation also successfully completed major accreditations and its financial audit, demonstrating that quality and accountability remain strong, even through times of disruption. These achievements give the Board confidence that Nunyara is in a strong position as it prepares for the next stage of its journey.

Strategic Plan Update:

As Chairperson, and on behalf of the Board, I extend our sincere thanks to Cindy, our CEO, and to all staff for their dedication, hard work, and resilience throughout the year. The ability to continue delivering culturally safe health care while managing such large-scale change is a testament to the commitment of the Nunyara team.

We also thank the community for their trust and support. Together, we look forward to the opportunities that lie ahead as Nunyara redevelops its permanent home and continues to grow stronger for the future.

On behalf of the Board, I am proud to present this report for Nunyara Aboriginal Health Service for 2024–25.

Jeff – Chairperson

From the CEO

The 2024–25 year has been one of the most significant in Nunyara's history, marked by growth, transition, and the foundations of long-term opportunity.

The highlight of the year was the announcement of a $5 million Commonwealth capital infrastructure grant in July 2024 to redevelop our permanent clinic site at Tully Street, Whyalla Stuart. This long-awaited investment will transform our capacity to deliver culturally safe, modern health care in a facility designed to meet the needs of our community. It is a milestone that reflects years of planning, advocacy, and persistence, and represents the Commonwealth's trust in Nunyara's ability to deliver high-quality services for the Whyalla community.

In November 2024, we faced a significant pressure point when a major water leak occurred at the clinic on Tully Street. This event, which remains the subject of an ongoing insurance claim, forced us to bring forward our relocation by several months. Instead of relocating mid- to later 2025 as planned, we had to transition the entire clinic into temporary premises at Bastyan Crescent (the former Stuart High School site) on 1 April 2025.

This was a major logistical undertaking, requiring not only the physical move but also complex behind-the-scenes work to ensure continuity of services, IT, systems, and compliance across multiple programs. The support of the Department for Education was invaluable in this process, through leasing the site to us earlier than planned. The feedback from community and staff since relocating has been overwhelmingly positive, with the new temporary site providing the space and functionality we need while our permanent home is being rebuilt. Toward the end of this calendar year, our ICT and Administration teams will also transition across to Bastyan Crescent, consolidating Nunyara's operations on one site during the redevelopment.

Alongside these major changes, I am proud to report that Nunyara achieved two significant accreditations this year:

- NDIS Recertification Audit – confirming our capacity to continue delivering disability support services in line with national standards.
- AGPAL Clinical Accreditation – validating the safety and quality of our primary health care systems and processes.

We also undertook extensive planning and preparation for our ASES accreditation (organisational), with the assessor visit scheduled for August 2025. This preparation ensured our systems, policies, and service models are positioned strongly, building on a culture of continuous improvement.

In addition, the organisation successfully completed its annual financial audit, reinforcing strong governance and financial sustainability as we head into a period of significant capital investment and operational growth.

This year also brought important new opportunities through funding secured with the support of NACCHO. In May 2025, Nunyara was announced as a recipient of new funding under the Cancer Program, aimed at improving cancer outcomes for Aboriginal people in areas of highest burden.

This funding will contribute to employing a Health Promotion Officer and support activities at Nunyara designed to increase awareness, prevention, and early detection of cancer. It marks a significant step forward in strengthening our cancer care pathways and addressing an area of real need in our community.

While these organisational milestones are significant, none of them would have been possible without the support of our many stakeholders and partners. I want to particularly acknowledge the South Australian West Coast ACCHO Network (SAWCAN), and the incredible work undertaken collectively by the five Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Organisations across the region — Nunyara, Port Lincoln, Yadu, Tullawon, and Oak Valley Health Services. Together, we have continued to demonstrate the power of collaboration in achieving better health outcomes for Aboriginal communities.

The collective strength of SAWCAN has been recognised across the state, and Nunyara is proud to play a leadership role in this work. These regional partnerships remind us that while our focus is always local, we are part of a broader movement for Aboriginal community-controlled health that is strong, united, and future-focused.

Following on from Jeff's comments about the Strategic Plan, I am pleased to report that at June 2025, we have made solid progress against our Strategic Plan. Of the 67 actions, 22 are complete, 31 are underway, and 14 are still to be started.

The advances we've made in accreditations, developing new services, environmental initiatives, and strengthening our IT systems is a testament to great teamwork. We are also moving forward with infrastructure planning and construction, while continuing to grow and support our workforce. Some areas, such as building stronger partnerships and future growth planning, are still to be progressed and will be a focus in the year ahead.

Overall, we are in a good position. The foundations are in place, and I am confident that with the commitment of our staff and Board we will continue to deliver on our strategic goals for the Community.

I would like to sincerely thank all our staff, stakeholders, and partners for their tireless efforts during this year of transition. Our ability to balance day-to-day service delivery with the demands of relocation, accreditation, and audit has been nothing short of extraordinary. The strength of Nunyara comes from its people, and this year has shown once again that our team — alongside our partners — will rise to every challenge to ensure the health and wellbeing of our community remains at the centre of all that we do.

It has been a year of change, achievement, and resilience. I am honoured to lead Nunyara through this next chapter and extend my gratitude to our Board, staff, NACCHO, Department of Health, Disability and Ageing, the Department for Education, SAWCAN partners, and Community for their ongoing support.

Administrative Activities and Services

Continuous Quality Improvement & Accreditation

Highlights this year:

- ✓ Intranet Launch – Nunyara's first intranet established, giving staff a central hub for policies, documents, and resources
- ✓ Quality Management Framework Endorsed – A clear roadmap for managing and improving quality, formally adopted by the Board
- ✓ Audit Schedule Introduced – Comprehensive audits now embedded into everyday practice, strengthening compliance and safety
- ✓ nKPI Reporting Improved – Staff now receive quarterly updates in easy-to-read graphs; data also published six-monthly online.
- ✓ ASES Preparation – Final stages of organisational accreditation are underway

This year has been a milestone one for Nunyara in terms of systems, quality, and continuous improvement. A key highlight was the successful launch of Nunyara's first intranet, providing staff with a central platform to access shared documents, policies, and resources. This has modernised the way we work, saving time, improving communication, and making information easier to find. Alongside this, I also oversaw a complete restructure of our shared document storage system, creating clear pathways for staff to access information without duplication. Together, these changes have already had a significant impact on efficiency and teamwork.

Another major achievement was the Board's endorsement of Nunyara's Quality Management Framework. After years of development, this framework now provides a mature, robust roadmap for how we manage, measure, and improve quality into the future. As part of this, I also introduced a comprehensive audit schedule, embedding compliance checks and best practice monitoring into everyday work. These audits go beyond checklists — they build confidence that our systems are working, risks are being managed, and that the care we provide remains safe and of the highest standard.

A strong focus this year has been on improving the way we use data. The national Key Performance Indicators (nKPIs) are now presented to clinic staff in easy-to-understand graphs every quarter and published on Nunyara's website every six months. While some indicators are still affected by challenges such as GP shortages, there has been progress in areas like the number of patients receiving health checks. For example, health assessment completion rates for clients aged 25–54 increased from 29% in December 2024 to 31% in June 2025, while for clients aged 55+ the rate rose from 34% to 37%.

One of the most significant pieces of work has been preparing for Australian Service Excellence Standards (ASES) accreditation. This whole-of-organisation process examines systems, governance, and service delivery.

Achieving ASES accreditation will validate the high standards we strive for every day, and provide external recognition of the safety, professionalism, and quality of our services. Nunyara is now in the final stages of assessment, and we look forward to sharing a positive outcome in next year's Annual Report.

I am particularly proud of the successful intranet launch and the positive impact it has already had across the organisation. This achievement, combined with the Quality Management Framework, has strengthened the way we operate, creating systems that are embedded, transparent, and accessible.

In my role I collaborate across every team at Nunyara, holding regular meetings to review systems, identify improvements, and strengthen quality outcomes. This has resulted in improved communication across teams, stronger engagement in compliance processes, and a sense of shared ownership in continuous improvement activities.

Looking ahead, my priorities include achieving ASES accreditation, consolidating and monitoring the systems we have put in place, and continuing to support staff in their quality improvement efforts.

Looking Ahead, goals for next financial year include:

- Achieving ASES accreditation
- Continue embedding systems under the Quality Management Framework
- Support all teams in ongoing quality and compliance improvements
- Upgrade Patient Information Record System

Temporary Clinic at Bastyan Crescent

Information Technology

This year has been one of big changes and challenges in IT, with several important projects completed to support Nunyara's operations. One of the first achievements was the removal of the end-of-life printer fleet and the rollout of a new suite of printers across the temporary clinic at the new temporary site. Alongside this, I deployed Kyocera Cloud Print & Scan with swipe card access, giving staff, doctors, and visiting specialists more flexibility and security when printing and scanning. We now have a reliable and modern fleet, including one multifunction printer in each consult room and two larger printer/copiers in the reception and clinical hub areas.

Another achievement was simplifying processes through IT systems. This included creating a streamlined onboarding system using Microsoft Forms, which makes it easier and quicker to manage new staff. I also invested in my own development, completing training in manual handling, first aid, and fire warden responsibilities, as well as taking on the role of WHS Committee member.

The biggest challenge and achievement this year was supporting the fast-tracked transition of the clinic to the temporary site at Stuart High School after the Tully Street site became unworkable. Working closely with Ant Datacom, we scoped out the IT requirements and minimised costs by reusing much of the school's existing cabling infrastructure.

We added new ports where needed and worked with Vocus Fibre & Network Solutions to reactivate the NBN connection. I also oversaw the installation of a new communications cabinet, network switch, patch panels, backup power supply, and firewall, ensuring the new clinic had a stable and secure IT backbone from day one.

This work was only possible through strong collaboration. I would like to acknowledge New Future IT, who provide ongoing remote support; Kyocera Document Solutions for their assistance with deployment and fleet monitoring; and Tony from Ant Datacom, who supported the cabling and setup work. I also want to thank Caitlyn, who worked with Nunyara during this time as Practice and Project Support Officer. Caitlyn provided significant assistance to me in IT and across many areas of the organisation, and I wish her well as she returns to Yadu Health Service.

Looking ahead, one of the key focuses for IT will be preparing for Nunyara's second relocation, which involves setting up Building 2 at Stuart High School to house the Admin and Integrated Care teams. Ensuring this new building has the right IT infrastructure and connectivity will be a priority for the next 12 months.

Finance

This year has been a strong one for Nunyara's finances, with several key achievements laying the groundwork for even greater efficiency and accountability moving forward. A major highlight was achieving a clean financial audit, which reflects the organisation's sound financial management and compliance with requirements.

Behind the scenes, significant work was done to strengthen our internal systems. This included the introduction of improved financial processes, the development of a new budget template, and a major tidy-up of the general ledger. These changes have already made a difference in how budgets are managed and will support more accurate forecasting and decision-making in the future.

Another achievement was the completion of balance sheet reconciliations, which ensure Nunyara's accounts are transparent and reliable. Together, these improvements not only support strong governance but also give the organisation a solid foundation as we move through a period of capital investment and growth.

Clinic Receptionist

This year has brought many changes and opportunities in my role as Clinic Receptionist. The big move to our new temporary clinic building at Bastyan Crescent was a major milestone. It was exciting to be part of the transition and to help welcome our community into the new space. The opening of the Bastyan Crescent clinic has been a highlight, as the new surroundings feel more spacious, inviting, and comfortable for both clients and staff. I have enjoyed sharing this fresh start with the community and my co-workers.

Another achievement has been stepping into a more senior receptionist role, which has given me the chance to take on extra responsibilities and grow in confidence. Adjusting to the new building while continuing my reception duties has been a challenge, but I have felt excited, prepared, and ready to contribute to the smooth running of the clinic.

One of the best outcomes this year has been the positive feedback from clients about the new premises. Many have commented that it feels more welcoming and provides a better environment for care. At reception, we do our best to ensure every interaction is positive and that clients feel supported and respected when accessing Nunyara's services.

I am especially proud of the way all staff work together at Nunyara. When help is needed, everyone pitches in to make sure the clinic runs smoothly. There is a real sense of teamwork and having each other's backs, which makes it a great place to work.

Looking ahead, my focus will remain on providing excellent customer service and maintaining strong relationships with clients so they continue to feel comfortable accessing Nunyara and the services we provide.

Administration / Payroll

Area of Work	What was achieved
Payroll	Ensured accurate and timely processing of payroll for all staff, followed by a successful financial audit. Implemented system improvements that reduced errors and increased efficiency.
Human Resources	Maintained accurate employee records and supported recruitment, onboarding and mandatory training requirements in line with policy and accreditation compliance.
Maintenance	Developed a schedule for periodical maintenance. Coordinated the maintenance schedule and ad-hoc requests with the Maintenance Supervisor, improving turnaround times and minimising service disruptions. Supported the Maintenance Supervisor to strengthen supplier and contractor management, ensuring quality service delivery and value for money.
Admin	Streamlined office systems and processes, improving efficiency and reducing time spent on manual tasks. Introduced digital workflows that enhanced accuracy and accessibility of information.

I was part of the working group responsible for the transition to the temporary clinic. This was a huge project that required months of planning, coordination and problem-solving, which was followed by the clinical accreditation shortly after! A huge effort by all involved to achieve compliance and continuity of services!

After a number of years with the same vehicles (some over 8+ years old!), I successfully led the process of securing replacements. Initial attempts with our long-term supplier were significantly delayed due to COVID and the subsequent backlog of orders. I managed to find an alternative supplier that could fulfil our order requirements and save us money. It was no easy task! Navigating the application process and gaining Board approval was a lengthy process but we managed to get it done and we are now enjoying the benefits of reliable, brand-new vehicles for our staff and clients!

I have successfully implemented a software called Asset Tiger to manage our assets, initially starting with keys, fobs and mobile devices. The software has the ability to store information of assets including, make, model, serial numbers, descriptions, locations, value, purchase price and photos. It also has the ability to assign assets to staff and record "events" such as when an item is lost or has undergone maintenance work. We are still in the early stages of implementation, but I am excited to build on it and include more assets!

I could not be prouder of the leadership and collaboration of staff to accomplish everything from audits and accreditations, to progressing a capital works project, relocating to a new site, and everything else in between! It is a true reflection of the strong relationships we have built internally and externally and our ability to communicate effectively with each other to get things done. We are a super team!!

This year we collaborated with Emma from Cleaned up Spaces on a few projects, the most exciting one being around Stock Management and Ordering.

This is aimed at improving our ordering and stock management processes to minimise wastage (linking to our Strategic Plan), save time on manual tasks and improve workflow.

The project involves:

- Gaining a clear understanding of our current stock levels (stocktake)
- Determining our usage requirements (forecasting)
- Developing a comprehensive inventory with preferred/approved products
- Establishing an ordering process and frequency
- Developing a policy for Stock Management that includes 'special requests'

My focus areas / goals for the next year are to:

- Finalising the stock management and ordering process
- Moving the rest of our staff over to the temporary site
- Progressing the Capital Works project

HR Update

This year brought both change and growth for Nunyara's workforce. Jody Croft, our Chronic Care Coordinator, commenced 12 months' leave without pay to spend time with family interstate. Jody is also the artist behind the new 715 shirt design, "Coastline" (March 2025) — an acrylic on canvas piece depicting the local coastline from Fitzgerald Bay through to Point Lowly, Whyalla and further south, capturing the colours of the land and waters in our region. Jody, a proud Barngarla woman born in Whyalla, has long expressed her culture and inspiration through art, with acrylic on canvas being her preferred medium.

During the year we also welcomed eight new employees, including three into the Integrated Care Team, three Aboriginal Health Practitioners, as well as new administrative and maintenance staff. At the same time, we farewelled ten staff members, including a GP registrar, a FIFO GP, several admin and reception staff, three Aboriginal Health Practitioners, and one from the Integrated Care team.

Each of these changes has shaped our workforce, and we acknowledge the contributions of all staff who have been part of Nunyara's journey this year.

Practice Management

This year has been both challenging and rewarding for me in the role of Practice Coordinator. One of the biggest highlights was the engagement of a resident pharmacist in September. Lucy has already made a huge impact, particularly in organising our medication room, imprest and ordering systems. Looking ahead, I am hopeful she will also be involved in supporting patient medication management, which will further strengthen the services we can provide.

Another achievement was successfully engaging locum doctors between October 2024 and March 2025. What were initially planned as two-week placements were extended to four weeks each, doubling the available time and opening up many more appointments for our patients. This flexibility was vital for continuity of care during a busy period.

Of course, the big move from Tully Street to Bastyan Crescent was a major milestone. It was truly a leap of faith and brought many challenges, but also a great sense of accomplishment. I was proud to be part of both the planning and physical move, as well as the behind-the-scenes work required. This included ensuring providers had new Medicare Provider Numbers, updating our physical address with multiple government organisations, and re-registering with a wide range of bodies.

The effort invested in these changes is already showing results. Medicare revenue increased by $17K this year, largely due to the locum claims and my ongoing work with staff to educate them about patient care items that can be claimed.

This education not only improves revenue but ensures we are delivering best practice care, as each Medicare item represents an important element of service for patients.

I am particularly proud of how the team navigated a year of big changes, including both the move and accreditation, all while adapting to staff departures and shifting workloads. My role became much more diverse, and I temporarily increased my hours to help keep the "ship afloat." These efforts, along with close collaboration with management, staff, and stakeholders, ensured we successfully completed the move and achieved accreditation – outcomes I am very proud of.

Collaboration has also been a strong theme this year. I worked closely with Lana on improving the use of Communicare, holding fortnightly meetings, developing PDSA cycles, and sharing reports with staff. This has increased awareness of why certain processes are followed and sparked productive discussions on how we can continue to improve.

Looking ahead, my focus remains on strengthening the clinic team and systems. A priority is to engage a permanent GP for Nunyara. I also plan to expand Medicare training with staff so that we continue to adapt to new Government requirements and incentives. In particular, I hope to gain deeper knowledge of PIP and MyMedicare incentives so we can maximise these opportunities and ensure the best outcomes for our patients and community.

Rachel

- Specialist Support Coordinator Achievements

I began working with Nunyara in August 2024. I am passionate about helping Aboriginal people to access quality services. I've worked in various case management roles in the Whyalla community for the last 19 years. In recent timess, I have primarily worked with people with disabilities to utilise their NDIS plan. Highlights for me this year include:

- Case management support for 25 different participants and their families to access support services
- Improved school attendance for children with disabilities
- Since starting with Nunyara, I have been able to broaden my scope of work to not only working with people with disabilities to utilise their NDIS plan, but also to provide case management support to other members of the family who may meet access for early childhood intervention services or NDIS due to disability need, for example other siblings or the parents
- I have attended professional development training opportunities for Elder Care and Disability

A direct and close connection with BoraCare has enabled the organisation to connect with Community and begin recruiting and training Aboriginal and Torres strait Islander people in the Disability and Elder Care sector. This approach will provide a more culturally appropriate service to Community and increase employment opportunities for mob.

A strong collaborative connection has been built between Tullawon Health, Nunyara Health and the NDIS Remote Leadership Team. This relationship has enabled a strong Support Coordination service to be delivered in Yalata, a remote area of South Australia, 655km from Whyalla. The NDIS have recognised the NDIS expertise of Nunyara inviting the Team to assist in the eligibility journey of the Yalata Community. The team will collaborate with Tullawon and the NDIS to identify existing eligibility documentation and assist in planning the completion of any necessary assessments to ensure individuals receive an appropriate NDIS plan.

Clinical Activities

This year has been a significant and rewarding one for the clinical team at Nunyara. We achieved several important milestones that demonstrate the strength of our service and our commitment to the community. Most notably, the clinic successfully completed AGPAL Accreditation, ensuring that our systems, processes, and standards meet the highest levels of quality and safety. At the same time, we undertook the major task of relocating from Tully Street to our new premises at Bastyan Crescent. This move has been very well received, with both staff and community members providing positive feedback. The extra space has created a more welcoming environment and allowed staff to work more effectively in delivering services.

Another highlight of the year has been seeing two of our Aboriginal Health Workers complete their studies and become registered Aboriginal Health Practitioners. This is a tremendous achievement and a testament to their hard work and commitment. We are proud that one of these newly qualified practitioners has chosen to remain with Nunyara, strengthening our clinic team and continuing to support our patients. In total, we now have four Aboriginal Health Practitioners employed, who are playing a key role in providing full health checks and ensuring patients are up to date with the National Immunisation Program. Immunisation has been a core focus of our work, with 880 vaccinations delivered in this reporting period, including 253 flu vaccines. These efforts are essential in keeping our community healthy and protected.

On a more personal note, one of the joys of my role is seeing families grow alongside our service. For the past two and a half years, we have been including photos of young Kaylah, with her mother's permission, to share her journey since birth. As the family has now moved to Adelaide, this will be the last year we include these updates. I wish Kaylah and her family all the very best for the future.

I am especially proud of how the team worked together to manage the challenges of both the move and the accreditation process. It required effort and cooperation across the whole organisation – from our CEO and administration team to the Integrated Care Team – and highlighted how well we can unite to achieve positive outcomes for the community. I would also like to give a special mention to Jane, our Visiting Services and Patient Journey Coordinator, who does a magnificent job ensuring patients are able to attend their specialist appointments in Adelaide. Her hard work behind the scenes makes an enormous difference for our patients and their families.

Finally, I want to acknowledge our valued partnerships. This year, we collaborated with the Rheumatic Heart Disease program, who provided further education to our staff and congratulated us on our commitment to teaching medical students, registrars, and locums who spend time at Nunyara. Their support, along with the patient resources they shared, will help us continue to provide excellent care into the future.

It has been a year of change, progress, and teamwork. I am grateful to be part of such a dedicated group of people, and I look forward to continuing to work together to deliver high-quality, culturally safe care for our community.

Dianne - Clinical Co-ordinator

Hi Community. This year has certainly been a challenging one with the big move from Tully Street to Bastyan Crescent and the demands of accreditation — it really is all about location, location! Despite the changes, it has also been a year of learning, growth, and exciting opportunities. I attended my first NAATSIHWP Conference in Perth, which was a fantastic chance to network, share information, and learn from other ACCHOs alongside many AHWs and AHPs from across Australia and the Torres Strait. The conference, MC'd by Seanie Choolburra, was both inspiring and energising.

Another highlight has been starting my training as an Aboriginal Maternal Infant Care (AMIC) Practitioner through training at AHCSA. This involves attending week-long study blocks every two months in Adelaide, and I am really enjoying the challenge of learning a new language and study approach. I look forward to walking this journey with our lovely pregnant women as I progress through the training.

I also completed the National Immunisation Program and am now able to give childhood vaccinations. On top of that, I've been learning Medicare online claiming (thanks to Deb and Jane for the support!) and continuing to smash out 715 health checks for adults and children to make sure our mob stay healthy.

I also provide clinical and admin support to our Allied Health team and visiting GPs. There is never a dull moment in the clinic when it comes to learning!

Attending community events is always a highlight, as it gives us the chance to connect with other services, showcase what Nunyara offers, and catch up with patients in a more relaxed environment. I look forward to the year ahead, continuing to grow in my role and provide ongoing, holistic care and support to our patients and community.

Tanya T - Aboriginal Health Practitioner

Aboriginal Health Practitioner

I began working at Nunyara Aboriginal Health Service in April 2025 as an Aboriginal Health Worker. Before this, I worked in hospitals in Adelaide where there really was no clinical background required for my roles. Moving into primary health care has been a change, and I've been learning what it means to work as an Aboriginal Health Practitioner (AHP) in a clinical setting.

In my role, I work closely with AHPs, GPs, Registered Nurses, and Allied Health staff. My duties include triaging patients both in the clinic and over the phone, conducting 715 health checks, completing HbA1c and ACR tests, providing STI screening, and carrying out pre-consultation checks before patients see the doctor. I will also be the designated AHP for mental health patients, making sure they attend appointments for their injections and managing their recalls.

Some of my key achievements this year include learning clinic-based roles, becoming confident in delivering vaccinations, and gaining new skills that will support my growth as an AHP. A highlight was taking part in NAIDOC in the Park, where I administered flu vaccinations under the supervision of RN Kate. This gave me the confidence I needed to continue building my clinical skills.

I am always looking for training and opportunities to upskill, and working in a clinic-based setting has already been a rewarding step in my professional journey. My personal growth has come from adapting to the different demands of primary health care compared to hospitals, and I look forward to continuing to learn and contribute to the health and wellbeing of our community.

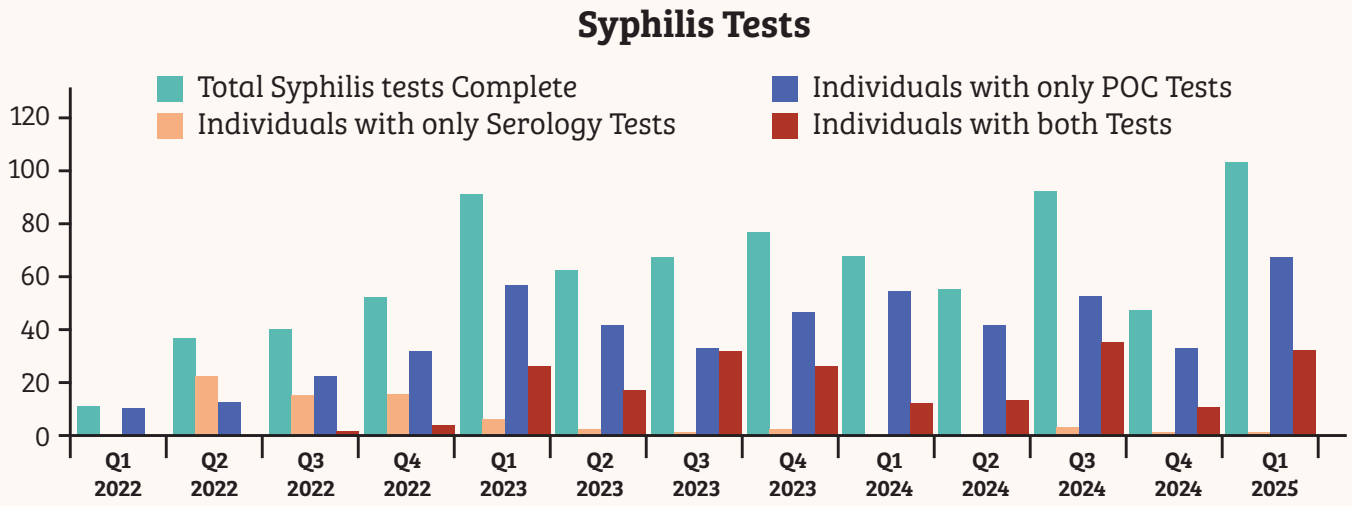
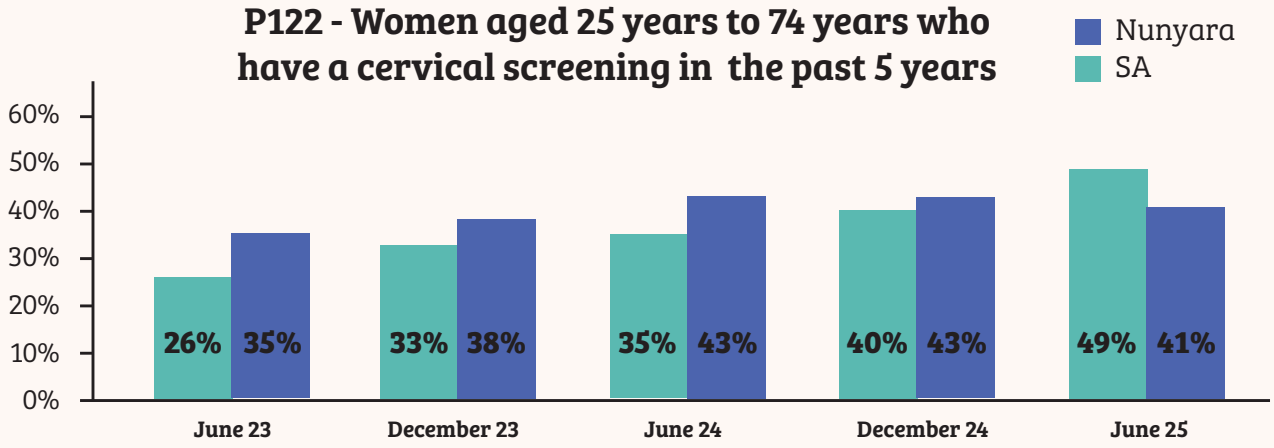
Clinical Projects

This year has been a rewarding one, with many achievements across the clinical projects space I have been involved in. In July 2024, I packed up the portable immunisation fridge and headed to the local park for the NAIDOC Week celebration. It was a great day working alongside the Integrated Care Team, where we administered 22 flu and COVID vaccines and handed out health information to the community. In September, I worked with Flinders Laboratory staff to relocate and set up the GeneXpert machine in its new home at Nunyara. They also trained all of our staff in its use, maintenance, and quality control, which has strengthened our testing capacity. Later in the year, on 7 December, I helped represent Nunyara at the Whyalla Hospital Fete. This was a great opportunity to share health information and engage with community in a different way, with an interactive stall where people could decorate Christmas ornaments using Aboriginal icons and symbols.

A number of important clinical projects have also progressed. The Beyond the C project has embedded best practice Hepatitis C prevention, identification, and management into the clinic. Through collaboration with SA Pathology, Lana, and our staff, we refined testing so that when a positive antibody result is found, the laboratory now automatically performs a reflex RNA test.





The Enhanced Syphilis Response Project was renewed with NACCHO, and we successfully navigated a transition in oversight from Flinders University to NACCHO, which required adjustments to protocols and quality control processes. I also maintained quarterly reporting and trained new staff in point-of-care testing. The impact of this work can be seen in the syphilis testing graph, which reflects the effort that has gone into monitoring and improving responses in this area.

I am particularly proud of the work in cancer screening. This year, I trained Aboriginal Health Practitioners to check the National Cancer Screening Register as part of 715 health checks, ensuring patients are up to date with cervical and bowel cancer screening. AHPs were also trained to provide education on self-collected cervical screening and bowel cancer kits. These changes are already showing results, with more patients aware of and engaging in screening. The improvement is reflected in the cervical screening graph, which shows an increase in the number of screenings completed. We are also preparing to introduce lung cancer screening into routine health checks.

In diabetes education, I successfully completed a Graduate Certificate in Diabetes Education with Flinders University, which has helped me build a regular client list. We are developing resources for community education, supported by referrals from GPs and local specialists. I am also working closely with Diabetes Educators at SA Health to strengthen this area further.

In reproductive health, I have been undertaking more Implanon insertions and removals, with GPs expressing their appreciation for the time this saves them. There has also been a good increase in Cervical Screening as the graph above represents.

Collaboration has been a strong part of my work. This year, I partnered with Shooting Stars to deliver school-based health checks and education sessions. We began at Whyalla Secondary College and plan to expand to three primary schools. So far, 12 girls have received 715 workups, and four education sessions have been held in schools.

Looking ahead, my focus is on continuing to improve STI and blood-borne virus screening rates, further increasing cancer screening uptake, consolidating the partnership with Shooting Stars, and working towards becoming a Credentialled Diabetes Educator.

Kate – Clinical Projects Co-ordinator

Nurse / Midwife

This will be my second Annual report since commencing at Nunyara in December 2023. The last 12 months have been extremely busy in the clinical space with the decline in the structure of Tully Street building and commencing in the Bastyan street clinic in April. This year also saw my position expanding multiple times into the clinic coordinator's role (other than my regular Thursday and Friday) while Di was on leave. As the clinical lead I was privileged to support the AHW's and AHP's promoting and teaching best practice models which assist clinicians developing their clinical judgement in turn supporting patients, making informed decisions about their ongoing care, ensuring patients have good outcomes.

One of the complications encountered this year was the RAH s introduction of a e-link to the preadmission work up for patients prior to their surgery. Their confirmation of surgery was reliant on the completion of the 31 pages of information, and I must commend the AHPs for working through this process ensuring our patients had access to often life altering care.

There have been many improvements in care in the clinical space, but not as much as maternal care. It has been a priority to engage with women and their families to understand the needs and acknowledge suggestions for improving care and incorporating their perspectives into the service delivery. With this approach in mind our numbers within the clinic have increased in both antenatal and postnatal attendance. The flexibility of this service has proven women and babies have access to a midwife and AMIC worker on any given day. This approach has additionally seen an increase in collaboration with other Aboriginal health services across SA and NT, and increased uptake of childhood immunisation with in the first year of life.

One of the greatest achievements for Nunyara in 2024 was AHP Tanya commencing her AMIC training, and with this team approach we can provide care that addresses both the physical health and the social, emotional, and cultural needs of families.

The relationships we have formed with our women during their pregnancy journey has been very positive, women are eager to contact clinic and inform us of their births and arrange follow up postnatally. Our goal is to build and have an ongoing collaborative approach for our maternal clients with hospitals with in the FUNLHN to ensure optimum care and outcomes. Our future vision in this space is still to visit new mums and babes at home, recognizing this can be a difficult time to get out and access services.

Finally, last year I took on the role of medication ordering and ensuring our medications were stored appropriately to meet accreditation standards this was eventually, and happily handed over in September 24 to the clinical pharmacist Lucy, who's expertise was a welcome addition to the clinic team.

Nunyara is a small team making an enormous impact on our community. There have been many, many positive patient outcomes this year in the clinic for which I am so happy to have been a part of the team delivering that service

Transport

This year has been a busy and rewarding one in Transport. We received two new vans for our fleet, which has made getting clients to where they need to go much easier. We also welcomed another part-time driver Glenn, which has helped us keep up with the demand. Moving to the temporary site has been a big change, but it's been exciting to settle in and continue the service from there.

What I enjoy most is the company of the clients I transport each day – the yarns, the laughs, and the connections make the job worthwhile. I'm looking forward to continuing this work until my retirement in December 2026.

Visiting Services and Patient Journey

This year has been both busy and rewarding in my role supporting clients to access specialist care and ensuring visiting providers are well coordinated at Nunyara.

One of my biggest achievements has been increasing my advocacy for clients who need to travel to Adelaide for appointments. By supporting them before, during, and after their journeys, I've been able to help reduce anxiety and ensure they receive the care they need. As a result, I'm proud to say we achieved a high standard of delivery for more than 140 patients travelling under the Patient Assistance Travel Scheme (PATS). These clients covered a wide range of appointments, including general medicine (80), eyes (18), ear (15), antenates (6), and a range of cancer-related and specialist services.

Attendance at visiting services also increased this year, thanks to consistent engagement and appointment reminders. Even though many of these services only come to Nunyara once a month — or sometimes only four to six times a year — client attendance was strong. Over the year this included 132 podiatry visits, 131 paediatrician visits, 76 respiratory physician visits, and 73 audiology appointments, alongside services such as speech therapy, psychology, physiotherapy, occupational therapy, and counselling.

A particularly rewarding moment came when a client we supported to attend urgent specialist appointments in Adelaide returned home after major surgery. He came into Nunyara with a box of chocolates and thanked us for "saving his life." Stories like this remind me how important it is to take away the worry and stress of travelling out of town for health care. Being able to walk alongside clients on their journey is the most fulfilling part of my role.

I am especially proud of the difference we have made in paediatric services. Through monthly collaboration with the Rural Doctors Workforce Agency, I was able to advocate for additional visiting services. We were fortunate to secure a second paediatrician and two extra visits, which cleared a huge waiting list. Families can now access appointments within a month, compared to the two-year wait lists often seen in mainstream practices.

This outcome has been life-changing for many families and children in our community.

Looking ahead, my focus is to continue delivering excellent service to clients while further strengthening partnerships that bring specialist care closer to home. I will also be lobbying our local member about the disparity between SA PATS and NSW IPTAAS, as New South Wales provides much higher support for travel than South Australia. Achieving fairer funding will make a real difference for our clients.

Nunyara Groups

At Nunyara, community connection is at the heart of what we do, and the Men's, Women's and Elders Groups continue to go from strength to strength. These groups are more than just meetings — they are a source of strength, belonging, and pride, helping to keep our community strong.

The Women's Group

A safe and welcoming space where women come together each month to yarn, share stories, enjoy a cuppa, and support one another across generations.

The Men's Group

Brings local men together in different locations around Whyalla, combining social catchups with health information and cultural connection — a place to look after both body and spirit.

Our Elders Group

Held monthly at the Whyalla Public Library, celebrates the wisdom of our older community members, providing time for social connection, cultural sharing, guest speakers, and plenty of laughter.

Collaborations and Regional Work

South Australian West Coast ACCHO Network (SAWCAN)

This year, Nunyara has continued its regional partnership with four other ACCHOs along the Eyre Peninsula and Far West Coast regions, including:

- Port Lincoln Aboriginal Health Service
- Yadu Health Aboriginal Corporation
- Tullawon Health Service
- Oak Valley Health Service

Key Achievements

Elder Care and Disability Support

This year, SAWCAN Elder and Disability programs have positioned the region as a national leader in culturally safe aged care reform. All Partner ACCHOs are now fully registered and confidently using the My Aged Care (MAC) portal – the first network nationally to achieve this milestone. Over 60 Elders have been actively registered, strengthening access to services and building an evidence base for future planning. A regional Elder Care workshop in Port Lincoln brought staff together to share learning, build confidence, and commit to improving aged care pathways.

Remote Community Connectors continued their important role, reconnecting families with the NDIS, delivering outreach in Ceduna, Yalata and Koonibba and helping carers feel more supported in navigating disability supports.

Child and Maternal Health – Strong Bubs Strong Families

The Strong Bubs Strong Families (SBSF) program aims to support families and build confidence in our regional health workforce. This year we:

- Trained 8 Aboriginal Health Practitioners (AHPs) to become independent immunisation providers, so vaccinations can be offered locally without relying on outside staff
- Rolled out ASQ-TRAK developmental screening across all five services, with 13 staff now trained. This has already helped pick up children who need extra support and link families with follow-up care
- Worked with community to create culturally appropriate resources for families with neurodiverse children, guided by local voices and artwork
- Supported 11 Aboriginal Health Worker and Practitioner students on their study and training journey, helping them grow into future leaders in our services

Tackling Indigenous Smoking (TIS)

The Tackling Indigenous Smoking team has been busy finding new ways to yarn with community about smoking and vaping. Some highlights this year were:

- Rolling out the Puyu Wiya Pledge Tree across all four ACCHOs, with more than 300 community members making their own pledges to cut down or quit
- Developing a Pregnancy Program, with artwork and resources designed to speak directly to mums and families about having a smoke-free pregnancy
- Strengthening the TIS School Program with the support of Victorian Aboriginal Health Service, giving our team great resources to use with students in schools and youth services
- Sharing our story nationally and winning the Jurisdictional Workers' Workshop poster competition, with a design that showed how the pledge tree is bringing our communities together

Culture Care Connect

The Culture Care Connect (CCC) program has been about walking alongside our communities in the areas of mental health, wellbeing and suicide prevention. Over the past year we:

- Delivered Aboriginal Mental Health First Aid training for 23 ACCHO staff, helping build their confidence to recognise and respond when someone is in distress
- Supported community events in Whyalla, Ceduna, Port Lincoln and Yalata, creating safe spaces for yarning and raising awareness about mental health and suicide prevention
- Coordinated the first Social and Emotional Wellbeing Expo in Whyalla, which brought services together and gave community members a chance to learn more about what supports are available
- Encouraged local CCC workers to attend national gatherings and summits, where they connected with other services and brought back fresh ideas for our region

Research and Data

SAWCAN's "Research Our Way" approach continued to build momentum. We established a Research and Data Subcommittee, engaged with universities and national bodies and presented at major conferences including LOWITJA. Regional surveys with over 100 responses identified priority health areas, including diabetes, skin health, hope and healing and access to housing. This work is strengthening evidence for advocacy and ensuring data is used in culturally safe and strength-based ways.

Partnerships and Collaboration

Collaboration remains central to SAWCAN's ways of working. This year, we strengthened relationships with:

- NACCHO and AHCSA – shaping national policy and training opportunities
- SA Health – joint immunisation training and workforce initiatives
- Victorian Aboriginal Health Service (VAHS) – delivering school and youth TIS packages
- RFDS, Headspace, Thirilli and Standby Country SA – enhancing service integration across SEWB, child health and suicide prevention

We also launched our new SAWCAN website, giving our communities and partners an accessible hub for updates, resources, and information - www.sawcan.org.au

Looking ahead

In 2025 – 2026, SAWCAN will:

- Continue strengthening Elder Care case management and advocacy around aged care reform.
- Secure sustainable funding pathways for SBSF beyond 2025.
- Expand TIS Pregnancy and School Programs, while trialling new resources for early childhood.
- Deliver evaluation of the Research and Data project and progress regional data aggregation.
- Finalise new program agreements and continue to advocate for sustainable investment in regional Aboriginal health.

Thank you

On behalf of the SAWCAN Board of Directors, we thank our ACCHO staff, community members and partners for their commitment, innovation, and resilience over the past year.

We especially thank Joanne Badke for her long-standing contribution as CEO of Tullawon Health Service, as a SAWCAN Board Director, and for stepping in as Interim Executive Manager during parental leave. Joanne's leadership and commitment to regional collaboration have left a strong legacy that will continue to shape our work.

Our collective achievements are evidence of the strength of working together – by our communities, for our communities.

1 Objectives of Nunyara Aboriginal Health Service Inc

The Nunyara Aboriginal Health Service Inc (the Entity) was established as an association under the Associations Incorporation Act 1985 (the Act). The Entity's objects are to:

- provide an holistic range of quality services and programs, promote healthy lifestyle choices and work to improve the health outcomes of Aboriginal people who reside in Whyalla, South Australia.
- advocate for dedicated and culturally appropriate service responses to the Aboriginal community of Whyalla from mainstream services.

2 Summary of significant accounting policies

2.1 Statement of compliance

This financial statement is a special purpose financial statement prepared in order to satisfy the financial reporting requirements of the Associations Incorporation Act 1985 (SA) and the Australian Charities and Not-for-profits Commission Act 2012 (Cth), the basis of accounting specified by all Australian Accounting Standards and Interpretations, and the disclosure requirements of Accounting Standard AASB 101: Presentation of Financial Statements, AASB 107: Cash Flow Statements, AASB 108: Accounting Policies, Changes in Accounting Estimates and Errors and AASB 1054: Australian Additional Disclosures. The committee has determined that the Entity is not a reporting entity.

Australian Accounting Standards and interpretations that have recently been issued or amended but are not yet effective have not been adopted by the Entity for the reporting period ending 30 June 2025.

2.2 Basis of preparation

The Statement of Comprehensive Income, Statement of Financial Position and Statement of Changes in Equity have been prepared on an accrual basis and are in accordance with historical cost convention.

The Statement of Cash Flows has been prepared on a cash basis.

The financial statements have been prepared based on a twelve month operating cycle and presented in Australian currency.

The accounting policies set out below have been applied in preparing the financial statements for the year ended 30 June 2025 and the comparative information presented.

2.3 Comparative information

The presentation and classification of items in the financial statements are consistent with prior periods except where specific accounting standards and/or accounting policy statements has required a change.

Where presentation and classification of items in the financial statements have been amended, comparative figures have been adjusted to conform to changes in presentation or classification in these financial statements unless impracticable. The restated comparative amounts do not replace the original financial statements for the preceding period.

2.4 Taxation

The Entity is not subject to income tax. The Entity is liable for fringe benefits tax (FBT) and goods and services tax (GST).

Income, expenses and assets are recognised net of the amount of GST except when the GST incurred on a purchase of goods or services is not recoverable from the Australian Taxation Office (ATO), in which case the GST is recognised as part of the cost of acquisition of the asset or as part of the expense item applicable. The net amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the ATO is included as part of receivables or payables in the Statement of Financial Position.

Cash flows are included in the Statement of Cash Flows on a gross basis and the GST component of cash flows arising from investing and financing activities, which is recoverable from, or payable to, the ATO is classified as part of operating cash flows.

Unrecognised contractual commitments and contingencies are disclosed net of the amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to the ATO. If GST is not payable to, or recoverable from the ATO, the commitments and contingencies are disclosed on a gross basis.

2.5 Revenue

Contributed Assets

The Entity receives assets from the government and other parties for nil or nominal consideration in order to further its objectives. These assets are recognised in accordance with the recognition requirements of other applicable accounting standards (eg AASB 9, AASB 16, AASB 116 and AASB 138.)

On initial recognition of an asset, the Entity recognises related amounts (being contributions by owners, lease liability, financial instruments, provisions, revenue or contract liability arising from a contract with a customer).

The Entity recognises income immediately in profit or loss as the difference between the initial carrying amount of the asset and the related amount.

Operating Grants, Donations and Bequests

When the Entity received operating grant revenue, donations or bequests, it assesses whether the contract is enforceable and has sufficiently specific performance obligations in accordance with AASB 15.

When both these conditions are satisfied, the Entity:

- identifies each performance obligation relating to the grant
- recognises a contract liability for its obligations under the agreement
- recognises revenue as it satisfies its performance obligations

Where the contract is not enforceable or does not have sufficiently specific performance obligations, the Entity:

- recognises the asset received in accordance with the recognition requirements of other applicable accounting standards (eg AASB 9. AASB 16, AASB 116 and AASB 138)
- recognises related amounts (being contributions by owners, lease liability, financial instruments, provisions, revenue or contract liability arising from a contract with a customer)
- recognises income immediately in profit or loss as the difference between the initial carrying amount of the asset and the related amount.

If a contract liability is recognised as a related amount above, the Entity recognises income in profit or loss when or as it satisfies its obligations under the contract.

Capital Grant

When the Entity receives a capital grant, it recognises a liability for the excess of the initial carrying amount of the financial asset received over any related amounts (being contributions by owners, lease liability, financial instruments, provisions, revenue or contract liability arising from a contract with a customer) recognised under other Australian Accounting Standards.

Interest Income

Interest income is recognised using the effective interest method.

All revenue is stated net of the amount of goods and services tax.

2.6 Current and non-current classification

Assets and liabilities are characterised as either current or non-current in nature. The Entity has a clearly identifiable operating cycle of twelve months. Therefore assets and liabilities that will be realised as part of the normal operating cycle will be classified as current assets or current liabilities. All other assets and liabilities are classified as non-current.

2.7 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents in the Statement of Financial Position includes cash at bank and on hand and deposits at call. Cash and cash equivalents in the Statement of Cash Flows consist of cash and cash equivalents as defined above, net of bank overdrafts, if any. Cash is measured at nominal value.

2.8 Receivables

Receivables include amounts receivable from goods and services, prepayments and other accruals.

Receivables arise in the normal course of selling goods and services to other agencies and to the public and from recognising grant income. Receivables are generally settled within 30 days after the issue of an invoice or the goods/services have been provided under a contractual arrangement.

Collectability of receivables is reviewed on an ongoing basis. Debts that are known to be uncollectible are written off when identified. An allowance for doubtful debts is raised when there is objective evidence that the Entity will not be able to collect the debt.

2.9 Non-current asset acquisition and recognition

Assets are initially recorded at cost or at the value of any liabilities assumed, plus any incidental cost involved with the acquisition. Where assets are acquired at no value, or minimal value, they are recorded at their fair value in the Statement of Financial Position. All non-current tangible assets with a value of $3,000 or greater are capitalised. Additionally, all assets with a bulk purchase value of $10,000 or more are capitalised.

2.10 Amortisation and Depreciation of non-current assets

The value of leasehold improvements is amortised over the estimated useful life of each improvement. The value of other non-current assets is depreciated over the estimated useful life of the relevant asset.

Amortisation for non-current assets is determined as follows:

Class of asset	Depreciation method	Useful life (years)
Property improvements	Straight line	5 Years
Buildings	Straight line	30 Years
Plant & Equipment (including IT)	Straight line	3 - 10 Years
Other plant and equipment (Artwork)	Not depreciated	N/A

2.11 Payables

Payables include creditors and accrued expenses.

Creditors represent the amounts owing for goods and services received prior to the end of the reporting period that are unpaid at the end of the reporting period. Creditors include all unpaid invoices received relating to normal operations of the Entity.

Accrued expenses represent goods and services provided by other parties during the period that are unpaid at the end of the reporting period and where an invoice has not been processed/received.

All payables are measured at their nominal amount, are unsecured and are normally settled within 30 days from the date of the invoice or date the invoice is first received.
Employment on-costs include superannuatior contributions with respect to outstanding liabilities for salaries and wages, long service leave and annual leave.

2.12 Staff benefits

These benefits accrue for staff as a result of services provided up to the reporting date that remain unpaid.

Accrued salaries and wages

The liability for accrued salaries and wages is measured as the amount unpaid at the reporting date at remuneration rates current at reporting date.

Sick leave

No provision has been made for sick leave as all sick leave is non-vesting and the average sick leave taken in future years by staff is estimated to be less than the annual entitlement of sick leave.

Annual leave

The annual leave liability is expected to be payable within twelve months and is measured at nominal value, using pay rates applicable at the reporting date.

Long service leave

The liability for long service leave is recognised for all staff members regardless of length of service and is measured at nominal value using pay rates applicable at the reporting date, rather than a present value calculation as required by AASB 119 Employee Benefits. Long service leave recognised as a current liability relates to amounts for which the Entity does not have an unconditional right to defer payment beyond twelve months ie staff with 7 or more years of service. The remainder classified as non-current liability relates to employees with less than 7 years service.

Employment on-costs

Employment on-costs including superannuation contributions with respect to outstanding liabilities for salaries and wages, long service leave and annual leave are included with the relevant item.

2.13 Leases

The Entity as Lessee

At inception of a contract, the Entity assesses if the contract contains or is a lease. If there is a lease present, a right-of-use asset and a corresponding lease liability is recognised by the Entity where the Entity is a lessee. However all contracts that are classified as short-term leases (lease with remaining lease term of 12 months or less) and leases of low value assets are recognised as an operating expense on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease.

Initially the lease liability is measured at the present value of the lease payments still to be paid at commencement date. The lease payments are discounted at the interest rate implicit in the lease. If this rate cannot be readily determined, the Entity uses the incremental borrowing rate.

Lease payments included in the measurement of the lease liability are as follows:

- fixed lease payments less any lease incentives;
- variable lease payments that depend on an index or rate, initially using the index or rate at commencement;
- the amount expected to be payable by the lessee under residual value guarantees;
- the exercise price of purchase options, if the lessee is reasonably certain to exercise the options;
- lease payments under extension options if lessee is reasonably certain to exercise the options; and
- payments of penalties for terminating the lease, where an option is taken to terminate the lease.

The right-of-use assets comprise the initial measurement of the corresponding lease liability as mentioned above, any lease payments made at or before the commencement date as well as any initial direct costs. The subsequent measurement of the right-of-use assets is at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses.

Right-of-use assets are depreciated over the lease term or useful life of the underlying asset whichever is the shortest. Where a lease transfers ownership of the underlying asset or the cost of the right-of-use asset reflects that the Entity anticipates to exercise a purchase option, the specific asset is depreciated over the useful life of the underlying asset.

Where a lease has a term of twelve months or less, it is not accounted for as a right-of-use asset, and is reflected as operating expense of the period.

2.14 Financial Instruments

Initial recognition and measurement

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised when the Entity becomes a party to the contractual provisions to the instrument. For financial assets, this is equivalent to the date that the Entity commits itself to either purchase or sell the asset (i.e. trade date accounting is adopted). Financial instruments are initially measured at fair value plus transactions costs except where the instrument is classified 'at fair value through profit or loss in which case transaction costs are expensed to profit or loss immediately.

Classification and subsequent measurement

Financial instruments are subsequently measured at cost.

(i) Loans and Receivables

Loans and receivables are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active marke and are subsequently measured at cost.

(ii) Held-to-maturity investments

Held-to-maturity investments are non-derivative financial assets that have fixed maturities and fixed or determinable payments, and it is the Entity's intention to hold these investments to maturity. They are subsequently measured at cost.

(iii) Financial liabilities

Non-derivative financial liabilities (excluding financial guarantees) are subsequently measured at cost.

Fair Value

Fair value is determined based on current bid prices for all quoted investments. Valuation techniques are applied to determine the fair value for all unlisted securities, including recent arm's length transactions, reference to similar instruments and option pricing models.

Derecognition

Financial assets are derecognised where the contractual rights to receipt of cash flows expires or the asset is transferred to another party whereby the Entity no longer has any significant continuing involvement in the risks and benefits associated with the asset. Financial liabilities are derecognised where the related obligations are either discharged, cancelled or expired. The difference between the carrying value of the financial liability, which is extinguished or transferred to another party and the fair value of consideration paid, including the transfer of non-cash assets or liabilities assumed, is recognised in profit or loss.

2.15 Professional indemnity and general public insurance

Professional Indemnity and General Public Liability claims arising from the Entity's operations are managed through Elders Insurance. Directors' and Officers' insurance is managed through Cowden SA Pty Ltd.

3 Change in accounting policies

New and amended accounting standards adopted by the Entity

The Entity has adopted all applicable new and amended accounting standards and has determined that they did not have any impact on the amounts recognised in prior periods and are not expected to significantly affect the current or future periods.

New and amended accounting standards not yet adopted by the Entity

The Entity has considered all future applicable new and amended accounting standards not yet adopted and has determined that they will not have any impact on the amounts recognised in prior periods and are not expected to significantly affect future periods.

During 2023-24 entity engaged "Town and Country Valuers" to perform a valuation on all owned land and buildings. The valuation report did not split out the land component, so the entity derived the land values using the valuation data prepared by the Valuer-General as at 30 June 2024. Although this technique does not comply with AASB 13 Fair Value, which requires valuation at fair value using an appropriate valuation technique the entity has assessed that any variance is likely to have an immaterial impact on the financial statements.

The revaluation of land and buildings resulted in a revaluation increment of $423,409 which has been credited to the asset revaluation reserve.

During 2024-25 Nunyara decided to cease the mobile clinic program and disposed of the Mercedes Van. It was sold for $150,000 at a loss.

Report on the Audit of the Financial Report

Audit Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial report of Nunyara Aboriginal Health Service Inc. (the Association), which comprises the statement of financial position as at 30 June 2025, statement of comprehensive income, statement of changes in equity and statement of cash flows for the year then ended, notes comprising a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information, and the statement by the members of the committee.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial report of the registered entity is in accordance with Division 60 of the Australian Charities and Not-for-profits Commission Act 2012 (ACNC Act), including:

(i) giving a true and fair view of the registered entity's financial position as at 30 June 2025 and of its financial performance for the year then ended; and

(ii) complying with Australian Accounting Standards to the extent described in Note 2, and Division 60 of the Australian Charities and Not-for-profits Commission Regulation 2022.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Report section of our report. We are independent of the Association in accordance with the ethical requirements of the Accounting Professional and Ethical Standards Board's APES 110: Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (including Independence Standards) (the Code) that are relevant to our audit of the financial report in Australia, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with the Code.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Emphasis of Matter - Basis of Accounting

We draw attention to Note 1 to the financial report, which describes the basis of accounting. The financial report has been prepared for the purpose of fulfilling the Association's financial reporting responsibilities under the ACNC Act. As a result, the financial report may not be suitable for another purpose. Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

Responsibility of Committee for the Financial Report

The committee of the Association is responsible for the preparation of the financial report that gives a true and fair view in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards and the ACNC Act and for such internal control as the committee determines is necessary to enable the preparation and fair presentation of a financial report that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial report, the committee is responsible for assessing the Association's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters relating to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Association or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Committee is responsible for overseeing the Association's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibility for the Audit of the Financial Report

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial report as a whole is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of this financial report.

As part of an audit in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial report, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Association's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Association's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial report or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Association to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial report, including the disclosures, and whether the financial report represents the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.
